Product Description

Mini Advent calendar "Graz"

Graz, the capital of Styria, truly is famous beyond the borders of Austria. The city of Graz is the recipient of many awards such as European Capital of Culture 2003, Human Rights City and European Prize winner. UNESCO has announced the title of a World Heritage Site. Graz has one of the largest and nicest unified city centers in Europe. Since the Middle Ages Graz has developed Gothic, Baroque, Renaissance and Art Nouveau architecture. The Karl Franzens University in Graz is the second oldest university in Austria and was founded in 1585. The Graz Cathedral is also part of the historic old town. But not only architectural beauty makes Graz so well known. The good Styrian pumpkin seed oil, called short kernel oil by the locals, is highly valued across Austria's borders and should not be missing in any kitchen.

Our Advent calendar shows a view of the main square with the clock tower on the Schlossberg. In the clock tower, landmark of the city of Graz, there are three bells with wonderful names such as "hour bell", "fire bell" and "Hangdog bell", also called "rogue bell". Behind the windows of this Mini Advent calendar are pictures hidden with typical Grazer specialties and Christmas specialties. Have fun giving it away or opening it yourself.
