Product Description

Crottendorfer goat leg - Heidi honey (natural), 13 cm

The origin of the unusual name goes back to a time when many of the Crottendorfer farmers could not afford a cow for milk production and therefore kept goats. The residents of the neighboring towns gave the Crottendorfer residents the nickname "goat legs". Because the wooden figure represents a smoking incense candle, it was given this name.

The smoking figures with a patented burning device for a complete burning may be equipped with a maximum of size M incense cones.

Warning! These incense figures may only be equipped with incense cones of size M!

- Height: approx. 13 cm
