Product Description

Actually, it's much too good to burn them, because in this stylish combination, the logs are rarely aesthetically pleasing. The powder-coated, cold steel forms a pleasant contrast to the most rustic of all fuels. If you still don't want to miss out on romantic evenings by the warming fire, you can of course also use the LOG firewood butler for transport. In addition to the practical carrying handle, LOG is equipped with a raised edge all around the base, in which bark and wood residues are collected.

Caution! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
