Product Description

The sustainable, Danish-made Dinnertime dinnerware from the tiny line offers numerous functions and options that are suitable for introducing even the youngest children to food from the very beginning. The plates in the set allow food to be divided according to type, colour or size. If the two smallest compartments of the plate are not used for eating, the bowl and cup can be placed in these compartments instead, so that the plate can be used as a tray for carrying food and drinks. The tableware set can easily be combined with other pieces from the Dinnertime range for a beautiful choice of colours and additional tableware if required. This crockery set has a long lifespan as it can be used from the first meal and can be adapted according to the child's developing skills and motor skills. For example, by removing the lid of the sippy cup and bringing it closer to the knife. The gift set is a dantoy tableware set made in Denmark from recyclable bioplastic. The set consists of 7 pieces in pretty, natural tiny colours. With Dinnertime, the sustainable quality tableware from the Danish brand dantoy, your child can learn about food. The 3 compartments of the plate offer the opportunity to separate the food and offer the child a clearly organised meal. Combine different sets and colours from the Dinnertime range to create a beautiful selection for your home.
