Product Description

A sustainable, Danish-made set from the Dinnertime range in the tiny line from dantoy, consisting of knives, forks and spoons. The cutlery is ergonomically shaped and, thanks to its size, is easy to grasp even for very young children who are learning to eat with cutlery. Using the cutlery helps to train the child's fine motor skills and hand-eye coordination. This tableware set can be easily extended with other pieces from the Dinnertime range, which are suitable for different meals and allow for beautiful colour combinations and additional tableware. This crockery set has a long lifespan as it can be used from the first meal and can be adapted according to the child's developing skills and motor skills. The tiny cutlery set is a set made in Denmark by dantoy from recyclable bioplastic. The sustainable and high-quality cutlery set from the Danish brand dantoy contributes to a good and sustainable mealtime, where the child can learn about food and train fine motor skills by using the cutlery. Combine different sets and colours from the Dinnertime range to create a beautiful selection for your home.
