Product Description

Twilight Blackout forehead rod enhances all types of curtains and drapes with its simple design. The simple shape and matt surface matches a wide range of interior styles. Twilight curtain rail effectively darkens the room and prevents light from entering. Twilight's innovative wrap-around design on the curved end pieces eliminates any incidence of light, as the curtains can be drawn completely closed on both sides without any gaps. To do this, pull the curtain around the curved end piece of the curtain pole and clamp it behind the bracket so that no light can penetrate from outside. Twilight's curtain pole has a stable diameter of 1.9 cm and is suitable for light to medium-weight curtains weighing up to 10 kg. The extendable curtain pole suits a wide range of interior styles and can be used for curtains with eyelets, back tabs, ruffle tape and tabs. Brackets for single curtain rods are 9.5 cm from the wall, brackets for double rod brackets are 13 cm from the wall. Room darkening The innovative wrap-around design on the curved end pieces allows curtains to be drawn completely without gaps on both sides, providing ideal room darkening. Easy installation Twilight curtain pole is supplied with all the fixing materials required for easy installation. Perfect for different types of curtains Twilight curtain pole is perfect for curtains with eyelets, back tabs, ruffle tape and tabs. Sturdy and durable Made of robust metal and suitable for light to medium-weight curtains up to a maximum of 10 kg. Perfect for any room in your home.
